Illinois Blast Kills Two Men

Damage to Town Set At Million Dollars

MOUNT PULASKI, Ill. (AP)—The shattering explosion of a railroad tank car spread devastation through this town of 1,500 Sunday, leaving some 1,000 temporarily homeless.

Two railroad crewmen were killed and one was injured seriously in the blast of the car filled with a petroleum product. More than a score of persons were injured by flying glass and debris. None was reported in serious condition.

Damage was estimated by town and civil defense officials at a million dollars. Officials said a survey indicated two thirds of the town's 400 homes were damaged and not immediately habitable.

State police ordered the town evacuated after flames threatened two other tank cars filled with liquid chemicals. The cause of the blast was not immediately determined.

The tank car was on an Illinois Central Railroad freight train which was switching in the yards. National Guardsmen were ordered into the central Illinois town to prevent looting.

The explosion tore a crater about 35 feet across and 30 feet deep where the tank car had been. Chunks of steel, some weighing several tons, were hurled a quarter of a mile.

Two Drivers Cited After Mishaps Here

Two persons were arrested Saturday and Sunday in police reported accidents on city streets, police reported.

Walter L. Lodge, 52, of 856 N. Hawley Ave. was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to three days in jail for drunk driving following a mishap at the intersection of E. State St. and Lundy Ave. Sunday at 10:08 p.m.

Police said Lodge's car struck the rear of an auto operated by Donald L. Cowan, 31, of 1245 Hollywood Drive on E. State St.

Lodge then turned south on S. Lundy Ave. where his car struck a traffic sign before coming to rest in the Firestone Store parking lot, police said.

Myron H. Cox, 42, of Canfield, was cited for reckless operation after a three-car collision at the intersection of E. State St. and Lincoln Ave. Sunday at 9:06 p.m.

Police said Cox's car hit the rear of an auto driven by Charles N. Casto, 22, of Belmont which struck the rear of a car operated by Lowell G. Cook, 34, of RD 5, Salem. Sunday at 10:08 p.m.

A car driven by Art Wisler, 42, of Leetonia and a truck-trailer operated by Matthew Black, of Barabourville, W. Va. collided at the intersection of E. State St. and Ellsworth Ave. Saturday at 8:46 a.m.

August Target Date For Adjournment

Congress Faces Heavy Schedule

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress starts paying the piper this week for its slow pace during the first five months of this session.

If it's to meet the early August adjournment target set by its leaders, it will have to shift into high gear as it returns from a long Memorial Day weekend.

Leaders have mapped out a five-day-a-week work schedule which rules out any extended recesses in June and July, except for the Fourth of July weekend.

This week the House faces a program that its own leaders concede may not be met. It calls for action on pay raises for federal employees, legislation to create a space agency, appropriations for the Defense Department, extension of the reciprocal trade program, and continuation of present corporate income and excise tax rates.

Little trouble is likely over the 38-billion-dollar defense money bill and a bill to continue for another year corporate and excise tax rates due to drop July 1.

But it may take several days to dispose of legislation to extend the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act for five years beyond June 30. Protectionist forces in the House are expected to fight to cut down the extension period and limit the added tariff-cutting powers the legislation would give the President.

The Senate has acted on only one of the major bills on this week's House docket. That is the measure to raise the pay of federal employees.

The Senate probably will spend most of this week debating the $3,712,000,000 foreign and authorization bill already passed by the House.

Another controversial issue in the Senate's lap is a bill to make Alaska the 49th state. The House passed this bill last week.

Major bills still to be considered by both branches deal with general labor law revision, foreign aid appropriations, federal scholarships, and reorganization of the Defense Department.

All in all, congressional leaders are pessimistic about prospects for adjournment by Aug. 2. Most of them would settle now for going home in mid-August.

Ike Will Confer With Sec. Dulles

To Discuss France, Map Reply to Soviets

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles scheduled a major foreign policy conference today to discuss relations with the De Gaulle government in France and map a new reply to the Soviet Union on nuclear test talks.

A White House statement Sunday night called for "intimate and friendly relations" with France under the premiership of Gen. de Gaulle. But officials said privately that everything depends now on how far De Gaulle is willing to go in Allied cooperation.

On the nuclear test issue, the President received a letter from Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev Saturday agreeing to open talks among scientific experts of the United States, the Soviet Union and other countries later this month.

Khrushchev raised several points, concerning place and membership, which required a top presidential response.

The scientific experts will try to work out mutually agreeable means for detecting any violations once an agreement to halt testing is reached.

There is no such agreement now, although the Soviet Union announced earlier this year that it was stopping tests and the United States and Britain have been considering a moratorium.

The President in a letter to Khrushchev May 24 suggested that both sides send scientific experts to Geneva in three weeks to work out the detection system.

French and probably other scientists along with three top-flight American physicists.

Khrushchev replied Saturday that he was agreeable to the proposed starting time. According to official informants, he also raised the question of including Polish and Czech scientists and possibly having men also from neutral countries such as India. He called for a final report in about a month—rather than two months—from the opening date of the technical sessions.

U. S. officials said he brushed off proposition seemed to raise no difficult barriers to getting the talks under way in middle or late June. Khrushchev did say he would like the meeting held in Moscow, but pending a further study of this point officials here

U.S. Road Deaths Hit Record Mark

Reuther Warns UAW Members Against Strike

Auto Makers, Union Blame Each Other For Talk Stalemate

DETROIT (AP)—The car makers and the United Auto Workers held an angry wake today over their dead contracts.

Deadlocked bargaining talks with the union were broken off at midnight at Ford and Chrysler just as they were three nights ago at General Motors. The companies and the union blamed each other for the unprecedented situation.

For the first time in more than 17 years UAW members are working at the Big Three without contracts.

Half a million UAW members employed by the Big Three are under stern orders from their chief, Walter P. Reuther, not to strike nor provoke any incidents stik nor provoke any incidents that could give the companies an excuse to shut down.

Reuther failed in last-hour attempts to win concessions from Ford and Chrysler before their contracts died at midnight. He made the same maneuvers that failed at GM Thursday night. But the companies flatly rejected his moves for any kind of temporary extensions of contracts.

All stood firm on proposals to extend 1955 contracts for two years, giving auto workers built-in annual wage increases of 7 cents per hour plus cost of living increases. This would amount to at least 16 cents spread over two years.

After the breakup at Ford, Reuther told newsmen, "We will ultimately get the companies to sit down and bargain with us the way they should. We will get a 1958 contract, whether it takes two weeks, four weeks or eight weeks...Time is on our side."

The companies didn't say how they planned to keep Reuther.

Expected to Meet Three Demands

Assembly Granting Power to De Gaulle

PARIS (AP)—The French Parliament today began to jam through the sweeping grant of power demanded by Gen. Charles de Gaulle so France's new premier can hasten to rebellious Algeria.

In the first of three ballots the National Assembly hoped to put through today, the deputies voted 337-199 to continue the special emergency powers in Algeria with which French governments for more than three years have fought the Moslem rebellion there.

Then the Assembly turned to debate on the No. 1 demand made on it by De Gaulle before it elected him premier Sunday — his call for full powers to rule France for the next six months by decree.

The Assembly and the Senate met almost continuously so that De Gaulle can land in Algeria Tuesday or Wednesday to cope with his most immediately problem — the insurgent army leaders and French colonists who defiance of Premier Pierre Pflimlin's government brought the World War II hero out of the political wilderness.

Prospects were that in another 12 to 24 hours of near continuous sessions, the general's demand for a virtual blank check would be approved.

The Assembly voted the tall, grim-faced wartime resistance leader into office by a 329-224 vote Sunday night after he insisted he be given a free hand to run France for the next six months.

The general made his sweeping demands in a cold, calm six-minute speech to the hushed chamber. He needed the powers, he said, to avert a "breakup and perhaps civil war" in France.

De Gaulle said he was demanding three major things of the Assembly:

1. Emergency powers to rule by decree for six months to clear up the current crisis. Parliament would take a vacation in the interim.

2. Authority to revise the constitution to give a stronger executive, based on the American system, rather than the parade of weak regimes which have been at the mercy of the Assembly.

3. Constitutional reform to reorganize the relation between France and her overseas territories.

Both constitutional reforms would be submitted directly to the people for approval, rather than to the Assembly first. De Gaulle did not spell out the constitutional changes he plans, saying his would be done in a bill to be submitted soon.

The Assembly committee approved the request for six months of full power 27-17 after an all-night session during which Vice Premiers Guy Mollet and Pierre Pflimlin pleaded that the general must be given a chance to push ahead with plans to revitalize France.

The committee vote followed bitter debate in the Assembly and Communist rioting against De Gaulle in the streets of the capital.

Another committee voted to extend special power measures which De Gaulle's predecessors have had dealing with the 3½-year-old Algerian rebellion.

370 Persons Killed in Holiday Traffic Mishaps

Count Surpasses Tabulation For Same 3-Day Period in '55

HOLIDAY DEATHS
Traffic 370
Drownings 127
Miscellaneous 88
Total 585

By The Associated Press

Traffic fatalities across the nation during the extended Memorial Day holiday climbed to 370, breaking the record toll for the same three-day holiday in 1955.

Late reports were expected to boost The Associated Press tabulation to an even higher total. The count of dead in accidents attributed to holiday observances covered the 78-hour period from 6 p.m. (local time) Thursday to midnight Sunday.

In addition to the 370 killed in traffic, drownings accounted for 127 deaths and 33 died from miscellaneous accidents, an overall total of 585.

The traffic toll exceeded the National Safety Council's pre-holiday estimate of 350.

Ned H. Dearborn, president of the council, said "disappointment over the size of the toll is all the more bitter because of the steady decline in traffic deaths for more than a year and special efforts of traffic officials to hold down the holiday toll."

The heavy toll was termed by council officials as proof that "impatience, intolerance and indifference bring death on the highways, especially on holidays."

The traffic toll compared with 294 reported during the 78-hour nonholiday period from 6 p. m. Thursday, May 15, to midnight Sunday, May 18. The count was made in an Associated Press survey for comparative purposes. It also showed 83 drownings and 71 deaths from miscellaneous accidents, an overall total of 448.

In last year's four-day Memorial Day holiday, the toll was 448.

18 Ohioans Die In Weekend Road Mishaps

By The Associated Press
If Ohio's accidental death rate had continued at the rate it began, the state might have set a notorious record for the long holiday weekend.

That was generally agreed today. But it was also agreed that the number of deaths between 6 p. m. Thursday and midnight Sunday was too high as it was.

There were 27 accidental deaths in all. Eighteen persons died in traffic, six drowned, and three died in miscellaneous accidents. The latter resulted from a fire, an accidental shooting and an accident with a farm tractor.

Eighteen persons had died or received fatal injuries before midnight Memorial Day.

Reports of fatalities slackened off after that, but began to increase again Sunday. The toll never resumed the early weekend tempo, however. Whether rain Sunday through most of Ohio helped reduce the death rate by discouraging travel is a matter of conjecture.

Seventeen persons were already dead — and another fatally hurt — when the following deaths occurred Saturday and Sunday:

Saturday:
Michael Klacik, 64, Port Clinton, of injuries received Friday night when struck by a car on Ohio 53 eight miles southwest of Port Clinton.

Wilfred B. Miller, 58, Bellefontaine, when his motorcycle sideswiped a truck on Ohio 313 two miles west of Senecaaville (Guernsey County).

Mrs. Everett D. Bivens, 47, Columbus, when a car in which she was riding collided with another car.

Gen. De Gaulle Master Of Timing, Suspense

PARIS (AP)—With the suspenseful timing of a veteran prima donna, Gen. Charles de Gaulle for 18 years has kept Frenchmen watching him.

His stage has been the battlefield, exile in England, the Champs Elysees crowded with his countrymen celebrating the end of World War II, the National Assembly and his solitary country home near Metz.

The tall, stern general has long been a master of timing and suspense. His recent news conference, when he declared he was ready to "assume the powers of the republic," was a good example. He announced the conference long enough in advance to allow an enormous sense of expectation to build up. When he finally spoke, all France and the world listened attentively.

The 67-year-old general, born in Lille Nov. 22, 1890, has been proposing dramatic and decisive solutions to France's problems almost since he was graduated from St. Cyr military academy. He has been alternately inspiring and vexing to his associates.

As early as 1928, when France's military leaders were planning for the kind of wars fought in the past, De Gaulle proposed motorized columns and tanks that could strike sudden blows at an enemy. French leaders did not listen, but the Germans did. Their lightning attacks in World War II proved De Gaulle had been right.

When German forces assembled on France's border in 1939, De Gaulle urged that France keep the initiative by attacking first. His own subsequent performance won him a battlefield promotion to brigadier general. At 50, he was the youngest general in the army.

When France collapsed, De Gaulle wasted no time in proclaiming a "Free France" to fight on from England and North Africa. "France has lost a battle," he declared, "but France has not lost the war." He assured Frenchmen listening to his London broadcast that France would be one of the victors. "She will then regain her liberty and her greatness," he said.

With the aid of the other allies, the general built a fighting force of half a million men. Shunting rivals aside, he proclaimed that he personally represented France and would have to be dealt with as an equal among allies.

De Gaulle got what he wanted; he kept France in the front rank of the world powers.

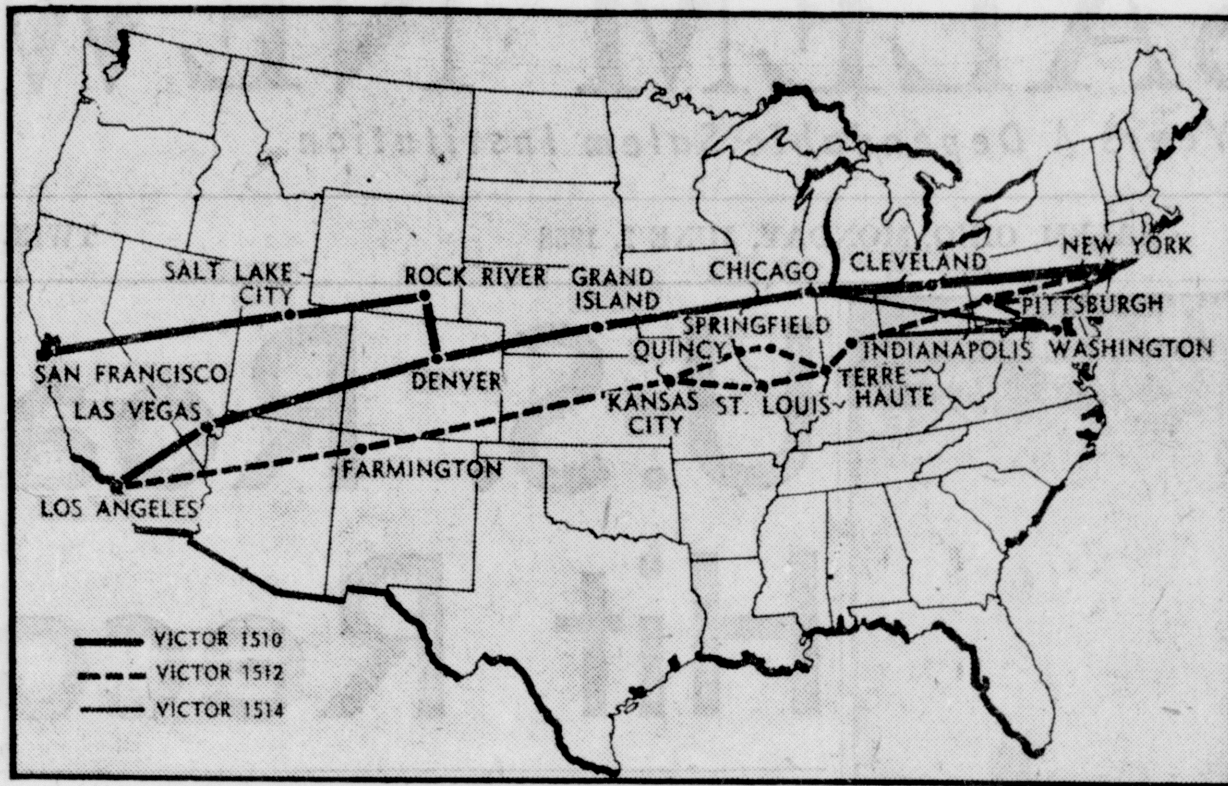

De Gaulle became provisional president of France as the war was ending and fought for a constitution that would provide strong executive leadership. When he lost, he dramatically bowed out of the political picture.

A year later he returned to politics and all eyes again turned to him. His party, the Rally of the French People, won 40 per cent of the popular vote in 1947 municipal elections. But the tide receded, and in 1953 the party was dissolved.

De Gaulle again went into seclusion.

When French military commanders in Algeria broke away from Paris control, the general needed a sure sense of timing. Some Frenchmen thought he missed his chance when he did not immediately call for revolution to take him to power. Some feared his moment passed when the National Assembly voted emergency powers for Premier Pierre Pflimlin.

But De Gaulle waited patiently. Instead of losing out because of the delay, he gained ground. A false step might have cost him the prize. He did not make one.

Nation Has Plunged Into Deep Political, Financial Crisis

Saudi Arabia Faces Chaos

Editor's Note—William L. Ryan, AP foreign news analyst, is making one of his periodic visits to the Middle East. This time he has been one of the few American reporters in recent years to get into Saudi Arabia.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

JIDDAH, Saudi Arabia (AP) — A burgeoning social revolution has plunged Saudi Arabia into a deep political and financial crisis. It has an important bearing on the future of Middle East politics. The pattern of the monarchy is already changing.

But the emerging leaders, once captivated by notions of pan-Arab nationalism, are casting speculative glances northward. The violent events in Lebanon could worsen their money troubles at any moment.

The lavish waste of money by this country's innumerable royal princes has finally caught up with the rulers of the backward desert kingdom.

And now that the rulers are struggling — with some promise of success — to stave off financial chaos, events in Lebanon are threatening the outlet of the oil pipeline at Sidon. If that should be shut off, here would be sharp repercussions here.

Crown Prince Faisal, astute brother of King Saud, suddenly has taken a strong grip on the reins. For all practical purposes he seems to be governing Saudi Arabia.

Once considered pro-Nasser and bitterly anti-American, Faisal has made a noticeable shift in his attitude toward Arab politics. Deeply involved in straightening out the financial mess here, he has climbed on the political fence.

The Saudi situation has been so critical, there has been a total ban on the entry of foreign journalists — even Arab correspondents.

I had a valid visa issued before the ban and entered with no trouble. The juncture obviously is going to need help, and in this im-

Heavy Voting Forecast For Iowa Primary

DES MOINES (AP)—Tax methods and school aid were the major issues as Iowans voted in a primary election today.

Republicans and Democrats were selecting their choices to run next fall for governor, eight congressional seats and other state offices. Neither of Iowa's two Republican U.S. Senators has to run for re-election this year.

Heavy balloting, spurred by an unusually large slate of congressional candidates, was forecast.

Political observers watched the election to determine whether the Democrats can hold their gains of 1956, when they elected a governor for the first time in 20 years and cracked the solid GOP congressional delegation?

Democrat Gov. Herschel Loveless has no primary opposition.

The Republican governorship contest has produced most of the fireworks as the two candidates, Dr. William G. Murray, an Iowa State College professor, and Lt. Gov. William H. Nicholas have clashed over tax philosophy.

Murray, making his first try for public office, has proposed raising the sales tax from two to three cents and using the extra money to help pay the costs of local school districts.

Nicholas opposes any tax increases and says the Republicans can't beat Loveless in November on a three per cent sales tax program.

Both have aimed barbs at Loveless for vetoing bills to provide new buildings at state educational institutions.

Inside Labor By Victor Riesel

Hitting the road is like leaving your artillery post to see what is happening on the rest of the big front—and this front of mine is Abilize — literally. Arsonists in Chicago have been terrorizing McClannan committee witnesses who have been calling for FBI protection. There are reports of explosions in Detroit.

In Cincinnati, a union official with a murder conviction record was uncovered. I Harrisburg a Citizens Committee has organized itself to analyze and fight crime in that state.

Nowhere is there any doubt that the mobs are doing business as usual and the usual business is to infiltrate the labor movement. There is no doubt that one of the targets, which raises a glow in their eyes as bright as some of the fires they light, is to put their hands on any part of the 31 billion dollars in pension and welfare funds now covering some 85 million people.

The vast part of this vast insurance business is legitimate and carefully watched. Yet some of it operates on the shady side of the street — as, for example, one outfit now being observed carefully in Detroit by the feds.

MILLION of dollars are involved here. This particular looting is "legal," but looting nonetheless. It's still legal, because only in six states are there protective laws governing such pension and welfare funds. These states are New York, California, Massachusetts, Wisconsin, Washington and Connecticut.

There is no federal regulation not even on embezzlement of such funds, because a House of Representatives subcommittee, headed by my own congressman, Ludwig Teller, plans to take weeks studying the bill, S-2888 recently passed by the Senate.

So, on my return to New York, I sought out Martin E. Segal, head of the company of the same name, the largest of its kind in the land.

Segal's firm advises over 700 pension and welfare funds — in the milk, building and construction, radio and TV, publishing, machine tool and trucking fields. Hundreds of millions of dollars are scrupulously handled.

I asked Mr. Segal just how large this field is. He reports that employers now pay more than nine billion dollars annually into such funds. This is a two-billion-dollar increase over 1954. There will be sharper increases as the years go by. These funds accumulate mostly in the pension field, Mr. Segal said.

HE REPORTS that there are 30 billion dollars in pension pools and only one billion in the welfare funds which are spent more rapidly. Talk about vastness, there now are group life insurance policies totalling 117 billion dollars.

Placement of even the smallest fraction of such insurance could bring hundreds of thousands of dollars in commissions.

To show you how swiftly the pension funds roll up, Mr. Segal reveals that there were 7,425 such pools of cash in 1945. They increased to 23,000 in '56, the last available count. There are many more today.

Yet the country still waits for congressional action, though virtually all sides, including the White House, the Democratic high command and labor itself agree. As my Broadway friends would say: "What's to study?"

THIS BILL, if it becomes law, would give the working people—the beneficiaries of these plans—an accounting of the money they spend and which is spent in their behalf for future security benefits and would permit the workers themselves to appraise the merits of the plans.

The bill demands the names and addresses of those having overall responsibility for the funds.

It would make public the number of persons covered; the kind of benefits provided; information on how the benefits are financed; the amount of benefits paid; detailed statements of assets and liabilities; detailed statements on income and especially expenses; salaries, fees and commissions drawn out of the pools of cash—and to whom they're paid and for what purpose; actuarial date and loans, if any, to employers or to any other persons or companies with an interest in the welfare or pension fund. There is much more.

But it all adds up to the pleasant fact that once this becomes law, it becomes a federal crime to steal or even "legally loot" these insurances of a better life. Does this need studying?

REPORTS ON BETTING TAXES

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The state received $279,936 in taxes on horse race betting during Beulah Park's 19-day meet which closed May 24. This is $15,128 more than last year, State Treasurer Roger W. Tracy said.

THIS IS ALASKA — More than twice the size of Texas, Alaska became the property of the United States in 1867, when it was purchased from Russia for $7,200,000.

Discovery of gold on Bonanza Creek on the Klondike River in northwest Canada, at the turn of the century, sent over 100,000 Americans streaming into the area. Many of these spread over Alaska and established widely separated settlements. Most of Alaska's vast forests are national forest preserves comprising 21 million acres.

Mt. McKinley, highest peak in North America, rises to a majestic 20,300 feet. Mining, fishing and forest products are its principal industries. Gold is still mined in quantity. North America's only tin mines are in Alaska. There is considerable mining of coal, copper, silver, platinum and other minerals. Canning and freezing of fish products (salmon, herring, halibut and shellfish) is a big industry.

Of its estimated 160,000 population (exclusive of military personnel), some 7,000 live in Juneau, the capital, Anchorage, with 30,000 inhabitants, is its largest city.

Guarding Your Health

By Dr. EDWIN P. JORDAN

Questions and Answers

Q—Is it harmful to take a tablespoon of mineral oil every night before retiring?—J.M.

A—This is a habit which should be avoided. Not only may the mineral oil irritate a portion of the intestines and perhaps lead to symptoms of spastic colon, but also it can interfere with the absorption of certain vitamins.

Q—I am troubled with swellings of the eyelids, particularly in the morning when I awake. Some mornings they are more puffed up than others. What can I do?—G.L.

A—It is impossible to tell from this letter whether the condition is the result of some local disorder in or around the eyes, or is a symptom of something elsewhere in the body.

For example, it is not unusual for the tissues around the eyes to be swelled up with fluid in the presence of Bright's disease, or inflammation of the kidneys. It is surely advisable to check into this and find the cause so that appropriate treatment can be started.

Q—My son, who is 22, has a blood pressure of around 160. Is this high for a fellow that age?

A—It certainly sounds as though your son had high blood pressure, though one would want to know considerably more than just the level of a single reading. There are several varieties of high blood pressure. Consequently, the problem in the case of your son is to determine what type of high blood pressure he has. It is only after this is done that appropriate advice can be given him.

Q—What causes an overacid condition and what can be done for it?—Mrs. A.K.

A—This question always puzzles me because I do not know what is meant by "overacid condition." The human body ordinarily has a remarkable ability to keep its chemistry in balance so that the tissues are neither too acid nor too alkaline. Without knowing considerably more, therefore, any discussion of this subject is useless.

Q—Would you say something about a torn ligament? I tore a ligament in my knee about a year ago while skiing.—W.K.

A—It is by no means unusual for ligaments around the joints to be injured in skiing and other kinds of accidents. In many cases the tear heals without leaving any permanent effects.

In others, however, unpleasant symptoms from such injuries keep on for months or years. In such cases, if the symptoms are severe enough, it is possible that surgery will have to be considered.

TO WORK WITHOUT CONTRACT DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Locals 801 (Frigidaire) and 755 (Delco) of the International Union of Electrical Workers (IUE) have voted to work without a contract for the time being. Their contracts with General Motors expired at midnight Thursday. The vote was taken Sunday.

Spanning a river may be just this easy for U.S. troops of the future. The soldiers will have small rockets attached to their backs (see sketch) and will be able to cover 100-yard distances "almost quick as a flash," according to the Army. First tests will be conducted at a southern military post in the near future.

Napoleonism at Arm's Length

In the old days, Charles de Gaulle could have played Napoleon to the French army's rumbling anger against a confused government.

But when the anvil was hot, he did not strike the blow that might have forged a military dictatorship. Like Gen. Georges Boulanger, who backed away from a coup d'etat with military backing in 1889, explaining that he preferred to win power, if at all, by constitution means, Gen. De Gaulle held back. He, too, wanted constitutional means.

The question left unanswered is whether the militarists in Algeria also prefer constitutional means. When it is answered, it will be the nature of the French army that will furnish the answer. If its conscripted soldiers have no appetite for military dictatorship, there can be no dictatorship.

Napoleonism seems to be at arm's length in France. Napoleonism is possible but not probable. It could happen, but it is not likely to happen. Dissatisfaction with a system of parliamentary rule that enforces weakness on itself seems to be neutralized by ingrained fear and mistrust of any system that offers strength at the expense of freedom.

Thoughtful observers see that France is not going a test of democratic government, not just a test of another cabinet, or of a government's ability to deal with vexing problems in Algeria.

If absolutists in politics can take advantage of France's parliamentary confusion to discredit popular government, a citadel of human freedom will have been destroyed. The blow against the free world could be as telling as defeat in a major war. The Communist conspiracy, which has concentrated on French politics as the Achilles heel of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, would score a major triumph.

All that stands between them and the triumph they seek is the French tradition of liberty at any cost, even weakness in government. De Gaulle, himself, respects the tradition, though he must have been tempted to scorn it. By not scorning it, he has suggested an exciting possibility—that in nations, as in men, there comes a stage of development when power is not worth seizing.

Governors Love Federal Spending

The least surprising discovery likely to be made this year or any other year is the fact discovered by newsmen covering the conference of state governors at Miami that most governors prefer a federal public works program over tax-cutting to stimulate the economy.

Governors love federal spending. It is the only way they can point with pride to something that doesn't have to be paid for out of state budgets.

Except for the District of Columbia and the federal territories outside the United States, all federal public works become identified with the states that benefit from them.

The taxes they represent are not identified with the states, on the other hand. Thus, the federal programs lend themselves to the great American illusion that it is possible to get something for nothing.

Actually, the opposite is true, because there is no more expensive way to get anything than to purchase it with tax revenue sent to Washington, discounted there to meet the overhead of the federal bureaucracy and congressional log-rolling, then returned piecemeal to the states.

The only Americans who get something for nothing under this system are those who live in poverty-ridden states that do not pull their own weight in federal finances.

If state governors cannot be blamed for trying to get more federal money, even though it would have to be borrowed, they should not be praised, either. Their personal feelings about the relative merit of federal public works are a hard reflection of a hard-bitten philosophy about public spending which does no credit to their integrity as public officials.

They know that a public works program would be unwieldy and slow. They know its benefits, as far as relieving unemployment are concerned, would be of no immediate value. But they also know that Washington's tax-collecting hand is quicker than the taxpayer's eye.

As witnesses for recession relief, they can be dismissed as prejudiced in favor of carrying on the great illusion that money from Washington is free; that the U.S. Treasury is an amiable cow that gives milk to grateful citizens without needing to be fed.

Fair Play Code For Amateurs

Two eye-popping disclosures have been made by a seven-foot basketball player of the University of Kansas, Wilt "The Stilt" Chamberlain.

One is the statement he received for his stellar services with the university's basketball team nothing but his room, board, tuition and $15 a month for laundry and incidentals.

The other is his complaint that he was forced by opponents of his team into a top-sided development as a basketball professional, which he intends to be. The other team, it seems, concentrated on keeping him from taking advantage of his height to run up scores. They did this by setting a multiple guard on his play, thereby handicapping him unduly.

In view of these facts, Chamberlain is not going to hang around to graduate with his class in 1959. He will attend to his development as a pro, with a view to playing for pay only after his class graduates, a nicely of procedure prescribed by the National Basketball Assn.

Plainly, amateurs need a fair play code for college sport. As a start, it should prescribe that defensive tactics should not interfere with the all-around development of college players, either in basketball or football.

Once Over

With surgical operations on the national networks telecast and advertised with show business techniques, sensitive fans are asking how long it will be before the public will get programs called Have Scalpel, Will Travel; Right Diagnosis or Consequences and Wide, Wide Surgery?

Medicine is being put in the field with show business. You may find the father of medicine, Hippocrates, on the same program with George Gobel, Rumpus Room and Tombstone Territory. The trend is going too far and gives a feeling the patient may recover from the operation but may never get over the theatricalism and nationwide publicity.

On the other hand, this is a camera-mad nation and there could be claims of under-privilege and bias from the folks put under the knife without telecast. There will probably be Americans asking to be auditioned for major surgery. It could lead to a top program. The $64,000 Incision, and panel shows for people just out of hospitals. A possible scene in surgeon's office.

Doctor—This is serious. I must recommend a major telecast.

Patient—Will it be dangerous?

Doctor—I hope not. I'm getting the best video director in the business. He's the man who did the spectacular You and Your Kids and got an Oscar for the color spectacle Beat the Doc.

Patient—Do you think I should go ahead?

Doctor—My boy, think of the billing and the reviews! You might go over so big you could sing up for a whole series of operations. Give me the word and we'll proceed. I can arrange for an applause meter.

ball. As an afterthought, something then might be done about prerequisites. Room, board and tuition are not hay, but $15 a month for laundry and incidentals is chaff.

A Community Asset

Some communities are not so fortunate as Salem in having good recreational facilities for its children, but continued progress in this direction year after year has brought to the city a well-rounded program of supervised play that is commendable.

Idle time is offset by a program of recreation that builds mental and physical health, bringing pleasure to boys and girls who soon develop a fonder bond of admiration and loyalty for their community.

Salem's annual summer playground program won't start officially until June 23 but since this is National Recreation Month, it seems opportune that adults should take stock of the recreational facilities and activities that are available. The Park Commission's program will continue to expand so long as parents and others show a genuine appreciation of the splendid work that is being done. Supervised recreation is one of the best tonics to thwart juvenile delinquency.

By H. I. Phillips

Patient—How about the credit lines? Do I need an agent to see that I get fair play? Doctor—I can promise your name will be mentioned somewhere between the rubber glove manufacturer and the man who wrote the extra dialogue for my nurses.

Patient (firmly)—Nothing doing; I get a credit line up front with you in this operation OR I WALK OUT!

THERE WILL BE a door-to-door drive to get every citizen to chuck a dollar into a campaign fund for his own party. "Don't pass the buck; give a buck" is the slogan of the American Heritage Foundation campaign. A better one might be "The candidate you save may be your own." Aristotle ("Tex") Schultz says he thinks he may stay neutral and give half a dollar to each party. "On the other hand, I could decide to give two-bits to each side and save a half dollar to support a drive to make campaign speeches by both sides shorter."

THE IDEA to give every voter a deeper interest in campaigns and a sense of helping to lan' his man in White House is fine. The only trouble is that candidates' speeches are so bad some people who contribute a dollar may feel they should get 75 cents change. The big question is whether women voters would go over in a body to a candidate whose party gives green trading stamps.

Cornell students threw eggs, rocks and smoke bombs at the dean in the recent riot. Student riots are so widespread today it would seem a lot of kids are afraid they will flunk the disorderly conduct course.

Reds Propaganda Experts?

By J. M. ROBERTS

There seems to be a pretty general feeling that as propagandists the Communists are experts and the West, particularly the United States, amateurs.

Yet this column has opened up many times with the line "The Soviets have done it again," meaning the Reds have committed some act which boosted Western aims when the West itself was in trouble or doubt.

Just at the moment the Soviets are devoting a vast proportion of their energies to extending Communism's hegemony by means of economic ties with countries that are weak and malleable.

There's also a debate in Congress over how much money the United States should throw into the battle, and whether President Eisenhower shall have broad powers to use it in Communist satellite countries.

The Soviets hope to proceed from economic ties to political hegemony whenever and wherever possible.

The United States hopes to see economies established which will lessen the appeal of communism and foster resistance.

So the Soviets choose this moment for virtual notification to such countries as India, Burma and Egypt that they've got to be in spiritual tune as well as economic need to justify Soviet aid.

Two years ago, trying to woo Yugoslavia back into the Soviet bloc from which she had been driven by Stalinist tactics, the Soviet Union offered money for power, aluminum and mining developments.

The Yugoslavs started preliminary work at their own expense, but refused to accept Moscow's theories about conducting the cold war. We can live with the West, they've helped us a lot, said the Yugoslav Communists.

Road blocks began to go up along all the "different roads to socialism" except the one from Moscow. Yugoslavia still refused to take that one.

The "normal relations" which Khrushchev and Tito had established began to come apart. Denunciations of Yugoslavia came from Moscow, Peiping and other Communist capitals. Pravda threatened, and proved a good prophet.

The Soviets have "postponed" their economic aid to Yugoslavia for five years, and unless some one else steps in to help, she stands to lose her preliminary investment in the projects.

Moscow talks about continuing and increasing trade with Yugoslavia. If she ever got the smaller country sufficiently tied up that way, then she would have the power to jerk the rug out from under Belgrade again in some future argument.

There are those who feel that this is the real Communist motive for much of their talk about increased trade with the West.

Next time you're worried about Soviet propaganda, maybe you'd like to stop for a minute and ask yourself: Who really created the world's animosity toward the Soviet Union?

Russia Tries to Penetrate Western Market

Soviet Russia's latest pitch to buy from 10 to 25 million dollars worth of American industrial equipment—to help relieve the U.S. depression—is seen here as another move in the Communist drive for economic penetration of the western world.

Allen W. Dulles, director of the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency, has been warning against this effort in recent speeches before American Society of Newspaper Editors and U.S. Chamber of Commerce. Now, here it is.

Just how far-reaching Russian ambitions are in this direction was revealed at the recent Economic Commission for Europe meeting in Geneva.

ECE IS ONE OF the United Nations Economic and Social Council subsidiaries. Its activities aren't very widely reported in this country. In some circles it is regarded as another futile sort of U.N. debating society which gives the Russians another forum for propaganda.

ECE has been working on East-West trade relations for 11 years. Its principal usefulness so far has been in collecting the only statistics on Russian trade with its satellites and the free world.

But at its last Geneva meeting, the organization did succeed in blocking a slick Soviet program. H. J. Heinz II, of Pittsburgh, headed this year's U.S. delegation.

Twenty-nine countries sent delegations. Fourteen were from Communist countries. The Russian delegation of 20—twice as large as any other—was headed by A. V. Zakharov. He came as a Russian "businessman." His qualifications were that he had served four years as head of AMTORG—the Russian purchasing mission in New York.

WHAT SET THE Western delegations back on their heels at first was the sweep of the Russian proposals for doing more business with the West. The Communists knew exactly what they wanted and minced no words in making their demands.

Among the more important of their 14 proposals for ECE study and development were these: Greater export to the West of Russian and Polish electric power and coal.

A new program for pipelines to carry Russian natural gas to the West.

Western cooperation on industrialization of the Danube River.

Greater exchange of Western technical know-how on the production of consumer goods, particularly synthetic fibers, plastics and chemicals.

Lifting of Western political restrictions against trade with the Communist countries.

Establishment of direct relationships between ECE and the new European Atomic Energy pool—EURATOM.

And to cap it all the Russians suggested a conference of East-West trade ministers to plan for expanded commercial exchange.

TO THE CREDIT OF the Western delegations, they were able to stymie every Russian putt on every green.

The West Germans, for instance, declared their country had no intention of becoming dependent on eastern European electric power, coal or natural gas, which would give the Russians an economic stranglehold on their economy.

Russia has been trying to break down the West's ban on shipment of strategic materials for years. This latest attempt got no further than previous attempts.

Remembering how the Communist countries froze the West out of Danube River traffic in the 1948 conference, the West declined the new bid to finance its development now.

The trade ministers' conference was rebuffed by the argument that there would have to be a Summit agreement on political differences before East-West trade could be taken up.

Russia's request for more know-how on chemical production is interesting because this is the field in which Premier Nikita Khrushchev has just obtained Communist Central Committee approval for a 100-million-ruble expansion program. Russia now lags in synthetics, plastics and chemical industries.

A-Power Expensive

Any ideas that small atomic power plants will dot the American landscape in the next 20 years can be forgotten. It will be 1980 or later before atomic reactors will be cooking competitively with conventional steam-powered electric plants.

This is shown by Atomic Energy Commission's first three approvals for small atomic power demonstration plants at Elk River, Minn., Piqua, Ohio, and Parr Shoals, S.C. Costs will run up to five times conventional steam plant costs.

Another project, tentatively approved last year for Wolverine Electric Cooperative at Big Rapids, Mich., has been canceled completely as AEC considers it uneconomical.

Elk River and Piqua projects have been knocking around Washington for three years for restudy, redesign and renegotiation of contracts. The Parr Shoals project, most costly of the lot—was first submitted last September.

The only thing that makes these three projects possible is the new government subsidy program authorized by Congress last year to get development started.

ATOMIC ENERGY commission can now pay all costs above what comparable conventional fuel power cost would be.

Thus, if steam power costs would be 10 mills per kilowatt, and atomic power costs are estimated at 25 mills, AEC is authorized to subsidize the full 15-mill difference, estimated at 14.2 million dollars.

Elk River's total costs are now estimated at 14.2 million dollars. This is nearly double first estimates of three years ago. Atomic power reactor and a conventional superheater to use its excess heat energy will cost 8.9 million. Research and development will be 2.8 million more.

The Elk River Rural Cooperative will kick in another 2.5 million for land and the turbo-generating plant. It will have a 22,000 kilowatt capacity.

Present estimates are that it's electricity will cost from 12 to 15 mills per kw. to produce. This compares with four to nine mill power in U.S. steam generating plants.

American Machine and Foundry made the original offer to build the reactor for 6.8 million dollars total cost. Later the company asked a raise to 11.5 million.

THIS WAS UNSATISFACTORY to AEC, so the company bowed out. In the meantime, atomic power reactor technology advanced. The plant was redesigned for a new fuel, a combination of thorium and uranium oxide.

New bids were called for and the contract went to Nuclear Products Erec division of ACT Industries, Inc. The Elk River plant is now scheduled for completion by 1960. This will be five years after first approval of the project.

The Piqua plant is likewise a five-year project. Bids were called for in 1956. The 12,500 kw. plant is scheduled for completion by July, 1961, by Atomics International.

al Division of North American Aviation.

Total costs are put at 16.3 million dollars of which four million dollars will be generator costs born by the City of Piqua. The 12.3 million cost of research and reactor development will be subsidized by the government.

AEC ENGINEERS won't estimate what Piqua power production costs will be, beyond saying they'll be higher than Elk River. Piqua will use enriched uranium for fuel and a new organic fluid moderator and coolant.

In the case of the Parr Shoals, S.C., plant, power costs may be four to five times as high as conventional power costs in this area which now run 7 to 17 mills per kw. They're high because of many old plants in service.

A combination of four private utilities operating as Carolinas Virginia Nuclear Power Associates will be 22 million dollars. On top of this AEC will subsidize the heavy water reactor research and development to the tune of another 14.6 million dollars. The 36 million total is tremendous for a 17,000 kw. plant.

Stone and Webster and Westinghouse will be contractors. They expect to have the plant in operation by June, 1962—again five years after approval.

Semi-Permanent Installation Popular

Patio Easy to Build

A patio made of loose blocks of bricks is fairly easy to put in and yields much pleasure for the small outlay of cash involved. In spite of its semi-permanent nature, it holds up remarkably well.

Growth in popularity of such installations is due to two things: no skilled work such as cement finishing is required and you don't need a large crew to complete the job.

There are special patio blocks made for the purpose. You can, of course, use building brick, new or used, two or three-inch-thick slabs of tree trunks, stone or broken cement from an old sidewalk.

Cost of the project depends entirely on the material you choose.

FIRST OF ALL, plan the location of your patio or terrace. By placing it right behind the house you will have one solid wall against which you can build your patio.

If you ever wish to place an awning or roof over it, the chief support of such a feature is already provided. A garage wall also serves as a good base line for your planning.

You may want to relocate rubbish and garbage containers. If that isn't possible you should think about a fence or hedge to form a screen.

NEXT, DETERMINE the size. Plan how much lawn furniture you intend to put on it. Put these things out in the area.

It's easier to visualize how much space you'll need.

If you're using bricks or blocks, adjust the dimensions so that they will be even multiples of units you are using. This will avoid having to break material to size. If you are using flagstone or broken pavement this isn't necessary.

Once size and location are determined, dig out the earth to a depth that equals the thickness of your material plus about two inches more for a bed of sand.

This is necessary if you want a patio flush with ground level. If not, simply turn the topsoil and grass over, level, and proceed from there.

If you don't dig down for your patio you'll have to plan on some barrier to keep sand and bricks or blocks in place. Bricks set on end in narrow trench or redwood strips held in place with redwood stakes are but two suggested ways to solve the problem.

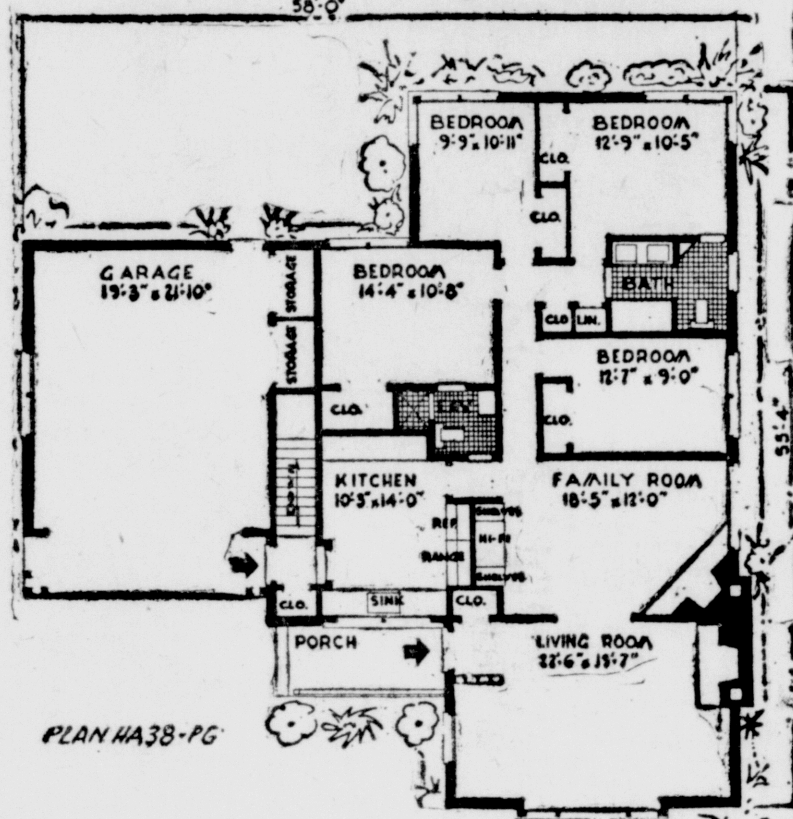

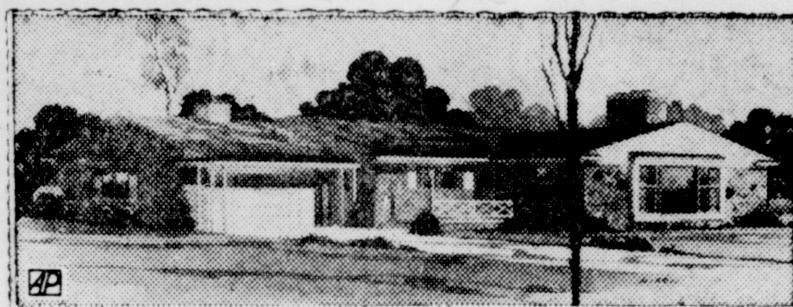

SPREAD SAND about two inches deep and rake level. Then lay the blocks as close to each other as you can. Check frequently with a level.

Once all blocks are in place and firmly anchored around patio's perimeter—strips or stakes are a good idea even with a ground-level patio—sweep sand into the crevices.

With a fine spray from your garden hose, wet down the area. When dry, sweep in a little more sand.

You'll find that the blocks are quite firm.

The ground-level patio is more solid, of course, than is one above ground. Either can be repaired or rearranged at will.

FOUR BEDROOMS ARE INCLUDED in this compact house with habitable area of 1,746 sq. ft. The living room, family room and kitchen are centered in one area; the bedrooms are in a unit at the rear. The plan, HA38-PG, is by Petersen-Gaiser Associates, 11711 East Eight Mile Road, Warren, Mich.

It will stay brighter, longer!

Question Box

Question: What can I put on brass to keep it from getting tarnished? A brass door knocker on our house begins to tarnish about 4 or 5 months after being thoroughly cleaned and polished.

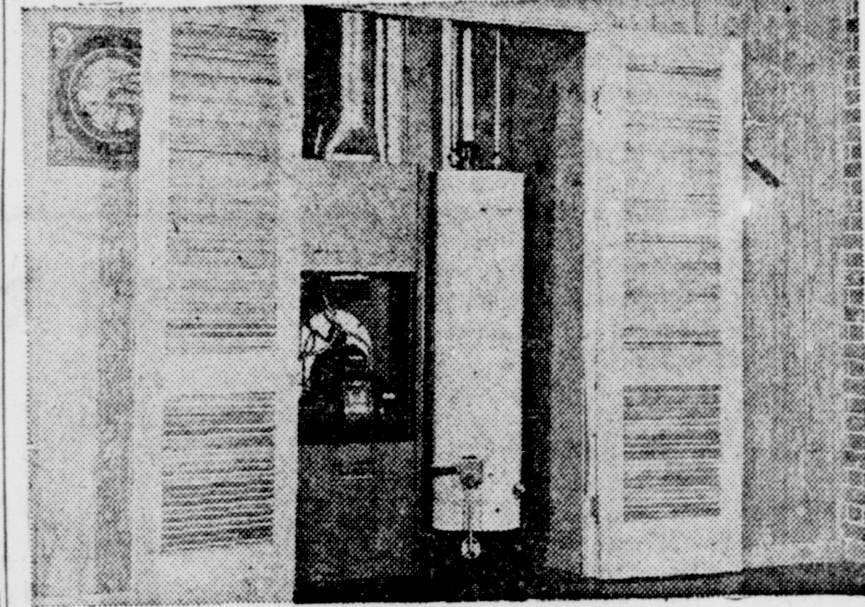

Answer: It is probable that the door knocker originally had lacquer on it and that the lacquer has worn off. Give it 3 or 4 coats of clear lacquer and it should last at least 2 years and possibly longer. Be sure the brass is completely clean and dry before applying the lacquer.

Question: Several months ago we moved into a house we bought. The house is 15 years old and has an attic which is finished in knotty pine. Whoever did the finishing apparently spent a lot of time making certain that everything was perfect down to the fraction of an inch, but he neglected to make any built-ins. We would like to make some built-in bookshelves. Can you tell us how to go about it?

Answer: The knotty pine is attached to furring strips which, in turn, are attached to studs. Take out as many of the pine panels as necessary to get the desired width for the bookshelves. Then cut out the parts of the furring strips and studs that are in the way. Since the studs were put in as wall framing and not to sup-

Closed, the doors keep the furnace and hot water heater from view, yet permit air needed by the burners to enter through the louvers. When the doors are fully open, there's adequate room for maintenance.

The louvers also add interest to the decorating scheme of the room by providing texture, avoiding flat, blank surfaces. Louver doors of ponderosa pine are available in stock from building material dealers in a wide range of sizes.

Doors of this type also are ideal when the furnace is placed in a first-floor closet of a basementless home.

sink one-third of the length of a wooden fence post into the ground. Be sure to treat it well with a preservative first, however. Excellent preservatives are the pentachlorophenol formulas developed in the laboratories of the Western Pine Association and available nationwide under a variety of brand names.

Q. What's the best way to sand wood paneling?

A. First, use a coarse sandpaper, where necessary, to iron out "dressing skips" which occasionally occur in paneling, says the Western Pine Association. Then rub carefully with a very fine sandpaper—No. 40, for instance. Always sand with the grain when hand sanding or when using a belt sander. A vibrator-type sander can be used freely.

Finish, Color Of Paneling Easy to Change

Part of the appeal of food paneling is its longlasting beauty with a minimum of upkeep. But at the same time, paneling is a good choice for the homemaker who likes to change the color scheme of her home every few years.

In many cases, it's almost as simple to refinish paneling from the western pine region as it was to finish in the first place. There's no limit to the variety of possible moods and decors.

To re-finish paneling and change the coloring, the Western Pine Association recommends as one method treating the surface with a paint conditioner available at most paint stores. This softens the surface at the same time as it removes grease and wax.

Before the surface re-hardens, a medium-heavy pigmented finish is applied. This may be a straight paint or mixture of paints to achieve the desired color effects.

Tips on Fence Construction, Mending Given

Good weather is a time for fence-mending and fence-building. For the homeowner who has a fence project in mind, here are some construction tips from the Western Pine Association:

Use care in fence placement and design. Don't cut off views of cover desirable features of the house. Place the fence far enough back from the driveway to permit opening of car doors.

Use 2 x 4 inch stringers or rails and 1 x 2 inch shoulders where the stringers meet the post face.

For stability, place at least one third the post length below the ground line.

Put a two-inch layer of gravel in the bottom of the post hole for drainage.

In areas where ground is soft or yielding, place posts in a sub-surface concrete base.

These and other hints for building fences are contained in a folder, "Western Pine's Fence Folio." The folder also shows color pictures of actual interesting and attractive fences.

For your free copy, write to: Western Pine Association, Yeon Building, Portland 4, Oregon. Ask for "Fence Folio."

Mrs. Jerry Huber Miller

Margaret Setter Becomes Bride of Rev. Jerry H. Miller

Miss Margaret Annette Setter became the bride of the Rev. Jerry Huber Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Duber D. Miller of Salem, Friday at 2 p.m. at the Lutheran Church of the Good Shepherd in Cincinnati.

The brother-in-law of the bride groom, the Rev. Robert W. Hilty of Massillon, officiated. A brief meditation was given by the Rev. Dr. Amos J. Traver of Hamma Divinity School at Springfield.

The bride, a daughter of Dr.

and Mrs. Lloyd R. Setter of Cincinnati, was escorted to the altar by her father.

She wore a gown of taffeta trimmed in chantilly lace. The bodice featured a scooped neckline and the lace trim. The princess style skirt dipped into a short train at the back.

Her finger tip veil of French illusion was held in place by a headpiece fashioned with pleated illusion, chantilly lace and seed pearls. Short hand mits of the lace completed the costume. Her bouquet was formed with phlox, orchids and stephanotis.

Miss Judith Flook of Akron was the maid of honor, and Mrs. Robert W. Hilty, sister of the bridegroom, was bridesmaid.

Both attendants wore pale aqua waltz-length gowns of taffeta and silk organza featuring scooped necklines and circle skirts. Cumberbunds of silk organza with hem-length organza drops in back were added to the gowns. They wore small hats of matching color and carried bouquets of white daisies.

Best man was Richard D. Miller of Salem, brother of the bridegroom. Richard P. Setter, brother of the bride, and Alan Spindler, both of Cincinnati, and the Rev. Walter Johnson of Canton ushered.

The reception was held after the service on the church patio and in the church school rooms. Assisting at the reception were Mrs. Milton H. Anderson, Mrs. Andrew D. Husey and Mrs. Robert C. Miller, friends of the families; and college friends of the bride, Misses Phyllis Carl, Nancy Lagai, Marilyn Miller, Marjorie Nimmer, Elizabeth Preston and Nancy Rutz.

The Rev. and Mrs. Miller are taking a honeymoon trip through the Shenandoah Valley and Williamsburg, Va. They will reside in Cincinnati.

The bride attended Wittenberg College and will be graduated from there after completing summer work at the University of Cincinnati.

The Rev. Miller was graduated from Harvard University and Hamma Divinity School. He is now the pastor of the Lutheran Church of the Good Shepherd in Cincinnati.

Chief Pirak, a graduate of Flushing, O., High School, has served in eight warships and two shore stations during his career.

Upon retirement, Pirak plans to reside in Woodbridge, Va.

Pvt. Glenn D. Rossey, whose wife, Janice, lives on RD 3, Salineville, recently completed eight weeks of tank training at the Army Armor Training Center, Fort Knox, Ky.

The 22-year-old soldier, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Rossey, RD 2, Carrollton, entered the Army last December.

Windsor Salad

Windsor Salad (Makes 4 servings)
Eight canned cling peach halves, 1 (3-ounce) package cream cheese, 2 tablespoons salad dressing, 1/4 teaspoon grated orange rind, 1 to 2 tablespoons orange juice, 2 tablespoons chopped walnuts, salad greens.

Drain peaches. Soften cheese with a fork and blend in salad dressing, orange rind and juice. Stir in walnuts. Arrange 2 peach halves on each garnished salad plate and fill with cheese mixture. Serve with additional dressing. If desired, decorate plate with cheese walnut bon bons made by pressing two walnut halves on each side of small cream cheese ball.

Household Hints

Housewives are amateur researchers when it comes to utilizing everything in the kitchen. For instance, one found dry mustard rids utensils of fish odors. A teaspoonful of dry mustard in wash water does the work without leaving a mustard taste.

Kitchen tongs are useful for turning fried chicken, chops and minute steaks; they're also helpful when you remove potatoes from the oven.

Piano Recital Is Scheduled On Tuesday

Couple Celebrates Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Gust Hoperich of RD 3, Salem celebrated their 45th wedding anniversary Friday at a family picnic at the home of their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Briggs of Copacia Lake Road. The couple received a purse of money.

All nine children, except Donald, who lives in Reseda, Calif., were present. There are 20 grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Attending the celebration for their parents were Mrs. Ruth Keister of Minerva, Mrs. Viola Miller of Guilford Lake, Mrs. Lera Berkimer of Damascus, Mrs. Dorothy Smith, Mrs. Briggs and Gus, Robert and Howard, all of Salem.

Mrs. Hoperich's sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hill of Warren, also were present.

Two anniversary cakes highlighted the picnic dinner. Ping pong and horseshoe games were enjoyed.

Gust Hoperich and Sylvia Hines were wed May 28, 1913 in Berlin Center. Mr. Hoperich, who recently retired from the Mullins Company after 25 years service, is now engaged in farming.

Miss Trudi Webber To Wed James Foster

Custom of open church will be observed for the wedding of Miss Trudi Gayle Webber and James W. Foster Sunday, at 3:30 p.m. in the First Presbyterian Church in Lisbon. The music will begin at 3 p.m. An open reception will follow in the church social room.

Miss Webber is a daughter of Mrs. Gladys Webber of Market St., Lisbon. The prospective bridegroom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Foster of RD 3, Lisbon.

Mollye Lieberman of Canton Is Married to Nathan Bahm

Rabbi Nathan Jacobson of Shalom Torah Synagogue of Canton officiated at the marriage of Miss Mollye Lieberman and Nathan Bahm Sunday evening in the Jewish Community Center in Canton.

Blue and white carnations decorated the canopy before which the couple exchanged their vows. Twin seven-branch candelabra were on either side of the canopy. The single ring ceremony united in marriage the daughter of Mrs. Harry Lieberman of Canton and the son of Mrs. Emil Bahm of 147 W. 10th St.

Mrs. Irving Winston of Canton was organist and accompanied Mrs. Norton Mendelson of Pittsburgh who sang "If I Could Tell You" and "I Love Thee."

The bride was given in marriage by Dr. Sam Lieberman of Canton. She chose a ballerina-length gown of French lace over ice blue taffeta. The fitted bodice was fashioned with a sabbina neckline trimmed with sequins, and long tapered sleeves.

Her ice blue shoulder length veil was attached to a lace crown accented with seed pearls and sequins. White orchids and blue and white feathered carnations topped the prayer book which she carried.

Mrs. Bernard Cropp of Parma Heights was matron of honor, and Mrs. Sam Lieberman, Mrs. Julius Lieberman and Miss Eileen Lieberman, all of Canton were the bridesmaids.

They were identically gowned in sheathes of Italian blue etching print. The dresses were styled with front cumberbunds and back balloon panels from the shoulder to below the hipline. Blue and white carnations formed their cascade bouquets.

Debra Lieberman of Canton was the flower girl.

Arnold Feuerlicht of Pittsburgh served as best man. The ushers were Dr. Julius Lieberman of Canton, Norton Mendelson of Pittsburgh and Bernard J. Ehrenfreund of Youngstown.

Mothers of the couple were attired in gowns of blue cantilly lace over taffeta. White cymbidium orchids complemented their ensembles.

A reception followed at the Center. The bride's table was centered with a three-tiered cake, topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom figurine.

The bride is a graduate of South High School, Columbus and Allied Executive Training. She was employed as manager of the children's wear department at Bon Marche of Canton.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Salem High School and the University of Pittsburgh. He operates Bahm's Clothing Store here.

Following a wedding trip to Miami, Fla., the couple will reside at 155 Park Drive. For traveling, Mrs. Bahm wore a navy linen sheath with white accessories.

TWO OFFICES — SALEM, OHIO

Leetonia To Celebrate Homecoming June 11-14

LEETONIA — The village's annual homecoming is planned for June 11, 12, 13 and 14. It is being sponsored by the American Legion and Booster Club, and will be located at the baseball park at the corner of Hazel and State Sts.

A highlight of the festivities will be a firemen's parade June 12 at 7:30 p.m. Robert Brown, local fire chief, will serve as parade marshal.

Included in the parade will be the civil defense unit, Quaker City American Legion Band, Leetonia High School Band, marching units, fire units, mounted units and motorcycles.

A large armed forces display is also planned, together with local concessions and Fallons rides and concessions.

Free parking for approximately 300 cars will be provided at the Bergs Bretzel parking lot.

The committee planning the event includes: Richard Carney, chairman, Dan Cullinan, Waldo Hall, Charles Stelts, Jack Kennedy and Mayor Ralph Kennedy.

The last full day of school for students in the Leetonia School district is Tuesday, instead of on Wednesday as previously announced.

Graduation exercises for students in the South Side kindergarten classes will be Tuesday and Wednesday evenings at 7:30 at the school.

Miss Hazel Ginter will present diplomas to the morning class on Tuesday evening, and Jack Ripley will make the presentations to members of the afternoon class on Wednesday evening.

The Washingtonville class will be graduated Tuesday evening at 7. Diplomas will be presented by Mrs. Raymond Pyles.

A total of 99 students will receive diplomas.

Dinner, Dance Held At VFW Post Home

A dinner and dance highlighted the opening day observance of the new Veterans of Foreign Wars post home at 491 Arch St. on Memorial Day.

The unofficial opening was planned by Marshall Sutherin, commander, and Richard Womer, senior vice commander.

Ninety persons attended the covered dinner at noon. The Gold Star Auxiliary assisted with the meal. The Maxine Wallace Trio provided music for dancing in the evening, with 150 persons in attendance.

Official dedication ceremonies for the new building are planned for later this year.

Agreement Averts Telegraph Strike

WASHINGTON (AP)—A nationwide telegraph strike has been averted by agreement in principle on a new contract between Western Union and the Commercial Telegraphers Union.

The two-year agreement still must be drawn up formally and ratified by the union. It calls for a six-cent hourly wage increase, effective June 1, plus an additional five cents an hour effective Sept. 1. Workers involved now average $1.80 an hour.

In addition, Western Union agreed to set up a fund, equivalent to three cents an hour wage increase, for the correction of inequities.

F. L. Wilcox, Western Union vice president, announced the agreement late Saturday, a few hours before a midnight strike deadline.

The new contract is for two years, beginning yesterday. During the two weeks which locals have to ratify the contract, operations will be under the old contract, Wilcox said.

Besides Socialist Mollet and Popular Republican (Catholic) Pflimlin, De Gaulle's demands were pressed by conservative Louis Jacquot and Felix Houphouët-Boigny of the Rally of African People.

They were called to testify before the committee in a 3 a. m. summons after the body had elected a man hostile to the proposal as its chief.

Communists and some Socialists on the committee — which represented all hues of opinion — voted against De Gaulle's demands.

The bitter debate earlier in the Assembly and in the committee made plain that De Gaulle will have no honeymoon with the opposition.

Sporadic outbreaks of leftist-led violence also were seen as an omen of trouble ahead.

In Algeria, where right-wing French colonists and army officers seized power May 13 and touched off the crisis, a wary calm prevailed.

Members of the ruling junta who had been shouting "De Gaulle to power" quickly proclaimed the general's installation as a victory for their forces. Privately, however, they were disturbed by his inclusion of such men as Pflimlin and Mollet in his Cabinet.

Salem Polo Squad Hands Lancaster Second Defeat 9-6

Locals Paced by Jack Arnold; Toledo Invades Here Sunday

The Salem Polo Club gained its second win in two starts this season with a repeat victory over Lancaster 9-6 in a match staged Sunday afternoon in the polo field on N. Ellsworth Ave. Ext.

Salem defeated Lancaster 12-7 in a game also played here on Memorial Day.

Jack Arnold paced the locals' attack with three goals while teammates Phil Thompson and Jim Watson had two each. Single goals by Jimmy Bahr and Lloyd Brunner rounded out the winners' scoring.

Gil Miller led the losers with four goals while his mates, Junior Turns and Jack Whiting had one each.

Lancaster led 1-0 after the first chukker and 2-1 after two frames. However, Salem scored three times in the third chukker while Lancaster scored once to send the locals into a 4-3 lead at the intermission.

Lancaster managed but one goal in each of the last three periods while Salem pushed across three goals in the fifth chukker to rap up the contest.

The local club will again be in action on the home field next Sunday at 3 p.m. in a match with Toledo.

Doug Sanders Wins Western Open Tourney

DETROIT (AP)—Youthful Doug Sanders had enough money today to pay doctor bills for the injuries that kept him out of tournament golf for the better part of a year.

The 24-year-old former collegiate swimmer from the University of Florida collected $5,000 first place money Sunday in the 55th Western Open Tournament.

Back on the tour less than a month after his second injury within the year, Sanders slogged through a driving rain for a final round 68 and made his 4 - under-par performance stand up for a one-stroke victory. He was 13 strokes under par for the 72 holes.

Dow Finsterwald finished second for the 16th time in 2½ years and collected $2,500.

Sanders fired rounds of 69-68-70 before his fourth straight subpar showing over the suburban Red Run Golf Club layout (36-36-72). He overcame a two-stroke deficit when all three golfers who had shared the 54-hole lead flattered in the final round.

Finsterwald had a 71 and his 72-hole total was 276, one stroke behind Sanders. Dave Ragan, Orlando, Fla., and burly Mike Souchak, Grossinger's, N.Y., shared the third round lead with Finsterwald, but both found the soggy going too tough in the showdown.

Ragan's 76 left him in a five-way tie for seventh place with 281, and Souchak's 74 earned him $1,600 and a share of third place with fast-finishing Julius Boros of Mid Pines, N.C., and Bob Rossburg of Palo Alto, Calif. Boros had the day's best round with 66.

Red Sox Bow 10-4 Before Yanks' Turley

By The Associated Press
Casey Stengel can pick his starting pitcher for the July 8 All-Star game at Baltimore without any delay. Bob Turley of his New York Yankees simply is burning up the American League.

Turley boosted his season won-loss record to 8-1 Sunday by throwing a five-hitter at the Boston Red Sox for a 10-4 romp. Using his breaking stuff more than his pet fast ball, Turley struck out 10 and took over the league lead with 53 victories.

It was Turley's eighth complete game in nine starts. Three of the runs scored by Boston came when Jackie Jensen's wind blown pop fly to short left with the bases loaded fell just inside the foul line.

Andy Carey came through with five straight hits. Two homers, a double and two singles helped him add 51 points to his average, which now measures .256.

Kansas City remained 6½ games behind the Yanks by whipping Cleveland 6-2, after scoring five unearned runs on Cal McLish in the first inning. Ray Herbert blanked the Indians with three hits in the first six innings and finished with a six-hitter. All this after Bob Bragan had blasted his Indians as "complacent and indifferent" in a pre-game lecture.

Billy Loes wound up with a $100 fine and an indefinite suspension from Baltimore Manager Paul Richards after he blew up and charged an umpire while Washington was beating the Orioles 5-2.

After Loes chased Ken Aspromonte over homeplate, while trying to tag him on a rundown play in the fifth, the emperamental pitcher slammed the ball to the ground and went after Umpire Larry Napp. Another run scored and a runner took third as the ball rolled away.

The Chicago-Detroit game was postponed because of rain after four innings with Detroit leading 1-0 on Al Kaline's home run.

San Francisco regained the National League lead by downing St. Louis, 7-2, ending the Cards' four-game winning streak, while Pittsburgh defeated Milwaukee 5-1 in a game cut to seven innings by rain. Stan Williams, 21-year-old rookie righthander, held Chicago to two singles while Los Angeles completed a long road trip with a 1-0 victory. Cincinnati edged Philadelphia 2-1 in the first game and the second was tied 11-11 in the ninth when the Sunday curfew intervened. The second game became a suspended contest to be completed later.

Cardinals Defeated by Giants 7-2

Bums' Williams Pitches 1-0 Shutout Over Cubs

By The Associated Press
Maybe Walter O'Malley should let Walter Alston do his Chavez Ravine electioneering. Whatever Alston told the Dodgers behind closed doors the other day must have been a pep talk in the Knute Rockne tradition.

The Dodgers reacted Saturday, after a double defeat Friday, and bombed the Chicago Cubs. Then came Sunday and a two-hit 1-0 shutout by Stan Williams, a 21-year-old rookie.

Although the Dodgers still are 10 games back, Williams had pitched only three innings until Alston gave him the call Sunday. The 64 right-hander acted like he really belonged. Working in 48-degree weather and a stiff 20 m.p.h. wind, Williams allowed only two singles—one by Al Dark in the first and one by loser Dick Drott in the third.

The San Francisco Giants climbed back into first place by snapping the St. Louis Cardinals' four game winning streak, 7-2. After dropping three straight, the Giants backed up Johnny Antonelli with an 11-hit attack.

Bob Friend, Pittsburgh and the rain combined to drop Milwaukee into second place. Friend held the Braves to five hits while the Pirates built up a 5-1 edge. Rain stopped the game three times and finally forced the umpires to call it off after seven innings. It was Friend's eighth victory.

Cincinnati's Bob Purkey won his sixth, 2-1 over Philadelphia in the first game. The two clubs struggled to an 11-1 tie in the second game, finally stopped by the Sunday curfew in the ninth. It goes into the records as a suspended game to be completed at a later date.

In the American League, Andy Carey collected two homers, a double and two singles for five straight hits while Bob Turley won his eighth for the New York Yankees 10-4 at Boston. Kansas City remained 6½ games behind in second place, slugging Cleveland 6-2 behind Ray Herbert, after Manager Bobby Bragan had blasted his Indians as "complacent and indifferent." Billy Loes blew his top, charged an umpire and wound up with a $100 fine and an indefinite suspension while losing his fifth as Washington downed Baltimore 5-2. The Chicago-Detroit game was washed out with Detroit leading 1-0 in the fourth.

Tribe Drops 3rd Straight to A's 6-2

Bragan's Rough Words Have No Effect On Indians

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Manager Bobby Bragan fired some rough words at his Indians Sunday, but it had little immediate effect as Cleveland dropped its third straight game to the Kansas City Athletics 6-2.

In a lengthy clubhouse lecture preceding the game, Bragan charged the team with complacency and indifference. It was his understanding, he added, that situation has existed in Cleveland for the last eight years.

In the very first inning an error by Gary Geiger at third base and a wild throw by second baseman Billy Moran paved the way for five unearned Kansas City runs.

Righthander Cal McLish was the victim of his mates' miscues. Saturday night, the Tribe committed four errors and a costly passed ball, enabling the A's to win 5-4. The losses dropped Cleveland to fourth place.

In reading the riot act to the Tribe, the rookie American League manager cited a "lack of concentration on winning, a lack of team effort and an accumulation of little things that leads to a general attitude of complacency and indifference." He added:

"This situation has existed in Cleveland for eight years. At least, that's what (coaches) Red Kress and Mel Harder tell me and they ought to know."

Meanwhile, if the Indians don't see the Athletics until July 5—the next scheduled meeting—it will be soon enough for them.

The A's have won seven of the nine contests played between the two clubs.

The Tribe took a plane ride to-day—their longest hop of the season—to Boston, where they meet Red Sox in the opener of a three-game series Tuesday night.

Lefthander Dick Tomaneck, who topped Boston 2-1 in 12 innings less than two weeks ago, is to start for Cleveland.

Getting back to Sunday's game in which Cleveland only managed six hits off Ray Herbert, there was one bright spot.

Rookie righthander Gary Bell made his major league debut in a relief role and struck out six in three innings. The 21-year-old, who was just recalled from San Diego, was touched for a run in the third inning on a solid double by Vic Power and a bloop two-bagger by Harry Chiti.

Bob Kelly and Bob Lemon pitched an inning each and Don Mossi twirled two frames, holding the A's scoreless.

But all the damage was done in the initial inning. Geiger, who had played third only once before in his brief career, booted a grounder hit by Mike Baxes, leadoff batter for Kansas City. Baxes stole second and Bob Cerv was given an intentional walk with two out. McLish then walked Bill Tuttle and Vic Power lined a single to center to score two runs.

When Moran made a wild relay to the plate, a third run scored. Chiti followed with a double and came home on a single by Joe Demaestri.

One of Cleveland's runs in the seventh was unearned when Bob Martyn dropped Roger Maris' sacrifice fly following a walk to Rocy Calavito and Russ Nixon's single. Mickey Ernon drove Vin the second run with a single.

Second Game Ends in 11-11 Tie

Reds Win Opener Over Phillies 2-1

CINCINNATI (AP)—If baseball players got paid time-and-a-half for overtime and traveling pay the Cincinnati Redlegs would be in for plenty of it.

They didn't stop playing in a still uncompleted doubleheader in Philadelphia Sunday until 7 p.m. (EDT). Then came the trip here for the playoff this afternoon of a postponed game against Pittsburgh. Next will come a dash to Los Angeles for a game with Dodgers out there Tuesday night.

It all adds up to four games in slightly more than 48 hours—two of them in Philadelphia, one in Cincinnati and one in Los Angeles.

The cash customer at Philadelphia Sunday got just about any kind of baseball, or what is referred as baseball, that they'd want.

The Redlegs took the opener, 2-1, in a tight pitching duel between Bob Purkey and Jack Sanford. Then came the wild nightcap. The score was tied at 11-11 in the top of the ninth when the Pennsylvania curfew law put an end to action.

As a result, it will be mid-August before the final result of that one is known. The game will be resumed at the point at which it was suspended but the Redlegs don't go back to Philadelphia until Aug. 11.

The suspended game was wild and woolly. The Redlegs blew leads of 5-1, 10-3 and 11-10. There were 31 hits, 4 errors, 11 pitchers saw action and there was one wild pitch.

Purkey, winning his sixth game as against one defeat, allowed the Phils eight hits in the opener, the same number Cincinnati got off Sanford. The only run Purkey gave up was a homer by Solly Hemus in the third, his first circuit blow in two years.

Meanwhile, the Redlegs had picked up a run in the second on a walk to Roy McMillan, a sacrifice and Johnny Temple's single.

They got their other run in the third when George Crowe's double got by Rip Repulski for a double and was followed by a run-scoring single by Don Hoak.

Neither starting pitcher got through the first inning of the second game. Cincinnati blasted Roman Semproch for five runs in the opening frame with Ed Bailey's bases-filled double driving in two of the tallies and Don Hoak following across the plate on a bobbled throw in from the outfield.

But Brooks Lawrence couldn't stand prosperity and was knocked out in the Phils' half as he was clubbed for three hits and a run.

Things went along fairly peacefully from then until the fifth when the Phils cut the deficit to 5-3.

Back came the Rhinelanders with five more in the sixth with Temple hitting an inside the park home run with the bases full.

The Phils, however, put together five hits for four runs off reliever To Acker and Johnny Klippstein in their half of the sixth and tied it up in the seventh off Hal Jeffcoat and Turk Lowen.

Singles by Gus Bell and George Crowe and Temple's infield grounder put the Redlegs back out in front in the eighth but Temple's error, a sacrifice and Willie Jones' fourth hit tied it up again.

That's the way it stood when the game was halted in the top of the ninth with Cincinnati having a man on first, one out and Don Hoak at bat.

Joe Nuxhall, who hasn't pitched a complete game yet this season, was to draw the starting assignment here today against either Don Gross or R. G. Smith of the Pirates.

Major League Stars Batting—Andy Carey, Yankees, boosted his average 51 points to .256 with five straight hits including two homers, double and two singles. He drove in four runs and scored three in 10-4 victory over Boston.

Pitching—Stan Williams, Dodgers, shutout Chicago with two singles in first major league start for 1-0 victory.

PLACES 3RD IN BOAT RACE KENTUCKY LAKE STATE PARK, Ky. (AP)—Jay Limbaugh of the Buckeye Lake (Ohio) Yacht Club placed third in the lightning class at the sixth annual Governor's Cup Regatta here Sunday. The event was won by Gene Walet III of New Orleans.

114 Seek to Qualify At Cincinnati For National Golf Meet with the gimmick of playing the ers entered in the Cincinnati qualifier, tournament officials came up with the gimmick of playing the 36-hole affair on two courses.

CINCINNATI (AP)—If the players, their automobiles and the daylight hold out, seven qualifiers for the National Open Golf Tournament will be determined here today.

Forenoon starters at the Maketewah Country Club were to play their afternoon round at the Cloverbrook Country Club. Those who played their first round at Cloverbrook were to wind up at Maketewah this afternoon.

And it takes an estimated 20 to 30 minutes to drive from one course to the other.

The last threesomes at each course were due to start their final rounds shortly before 2 p.m., which would leave plenty of daylight but golfers are notorious for their refusal to be hurried. And the traveling time, plus the regular lunch period could slow things considerably.

In addition, more traveling time might be needed if there are ties for the qualifying berths and the alternate positions. Any playoff was to be at Maketewah so players who finish at Cloverbrook who might be involved will have to dash back to Maketewah to settle the issue.

The big field had some familiar names to top-flight golf with the No. 1 contender figured to be Frank Stranahan of Toledo who always is a threat in any major tournament.

Others well known to big time golf are Pat Schwab of Dayton, Fred Wampler of Indianapolis, Toney Penna of Cincinnati and Joe Campbell of Fountain City, Tenn.

Schwab, Wampler and Penna have been battling their fellow pros for varying periods of time but Campbell cut his biggest swath as an amateur and turned pro only a few months ago.

Among the amateurs in the field were Walker Cupper, Billy Campbell of Huntington, W. Va.; Jack Nicklaus of Columbus, former Ohio Open champ, and Don Essig III Public Links Champion.

At Maketewah the field played over a course 6,657 yards long with a par of 35-37-72. At Cloverbrook, the yardage was 6,514 and par 36-36-72.

Perry Grange Meeting Is Set for Wednesday

Perry Grange will hold its regular meeting Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the grange hall.

At 9 p.m. there will be a special program on "Pilot Dogs." Stanley Doran and John Gray of the Pilot Guide Dogs Foundation, and William Pence, representative of a dog food company, all of Columbus, will be guest speakers. The men will show movies and answer questions on training pilot dogs for the blind. The program is open to the public. Especially invited to attend are persons who have need of pilot dogs.

CLEVELAND HOTEL LTO OPEN CLEVELAND (AP) - The 15-room, $1,500,000 Park Hill Hotel is Euclid will open Aug. 1. The Park Hill, greater Cleveland's newest hotel, will have a banquet hall capable of seating 500 persons

Jaywalkers to Face Fines In Columbiana

COLUMBIANA — Jaywalking pedestrians will be the target of an intensive campaign during June. Police will seek to educate the public to the use of crosswalks in the business sections where they are now largely ignored.

A growing population and increased traffic prompted the program which Mayor E. L. Calvin has launched by designating June as "Safety Month" in Columbiana.

Boy Scouts will be stationed on downtown streets for the month and will give a courtesy card to any jaywalker they spot, calling attention to the violation and urging the use of crosswalks. After the month of courtesy warnings, police will begin to issue jaywalking tickets which carry a fine of $1.

THREE MOTORISTS cited by the State Highway Patrol in the school band who won honors in state competition will be offered for Rotary Club members at their meeting this evening at Valley Golf Club. George Seederly is program chairman.

WALTER MESSERSMITH drove to Columbus Wednesday and was accompanied home by his daughter, Ruth Alta, who is a student at Capital University.

Dr. and Mrs. Wm. D. Jones of S. Main St. are the parents of a girl born Wednesday in the Salem City Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Lower had as a dinner guest Thursday, Mrs. Lucile Brekenridge Bandy of Whittier, Cal. She also called at the Fred Lodge home on E. Park Ave.

Over 750 persons attended the high school graduation exercises held in Firestone Park Stadium.

Miss Betty Kyser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rose Kyser left by plane Thursday for a summer vacation in the west.

Florence Heim and Gertrude McLaughlin represented the local Auxiliary at the Memorial Services held in East Liverpool. Anna McGahan, Charlotte Albright, Louella Snyder and Virginia Horton were among the honored.

15 Girl Scouts Are Awarded Curved Bars

Fifteen members of Girl Scout Troop 4, sponsored by the Mr. and Mrs. Club of the Presbyterian Church, recently received curved bars, highest award in Girl Scouting, at a coverdish held in their honor at the church.

Mrs. Jon Litty, president of the council, presented the curved bars to Ann Sutter, Brenda Smith, Amy Himmelsbach, Marsha Thompson, Charlene Keller, Dawna Stiver, Marsha Zimmerman, Judy Schaeffer, Karen Moff, Patty Dolansky, Patty Switzer, Shalimar Harris, and Pam Maruca. Becky Snowball and Diane Dawson were unable to be present to receive their curved bars.

The scouts also were presented 75-hour service certificates year pins and merit badges. A new member, Sheila Guess, is working on her first class badge, which she will receive this summer.

Forty-four parents, scouts and guests, enjoyed the dinner and program which opened with the flag ceremony and pledge of allegiance. Dawna Stiver and Ann Sutter were flag bearers, and Brenda Smith and Charlene Keller served as color guards.

The Rev. William Spearman spoke briefly to the girls on their motto, "Be Prepared."

Mrs. P. S. Barckhoff Jr., program chairman of the Salem Council of Girl Scouts, talked to scouts about the senior scouting program and introduced Miss Barbara Dick, who will be their senior troop leader.

Mrs. Lionel Smith and Mrs. David Keller, leaders of the troop, presented each of the girls a red rose as a symbol of their friendship and work together. The leaders were presented gifts from the girls.

Plans for the summer include a camping trip to Camp Merrydale and a trip to Youngstown for dinner and a show.

New Garden

Mr. and Mrs. Garland Davis recently visited Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hahlen of Minerva, RD.

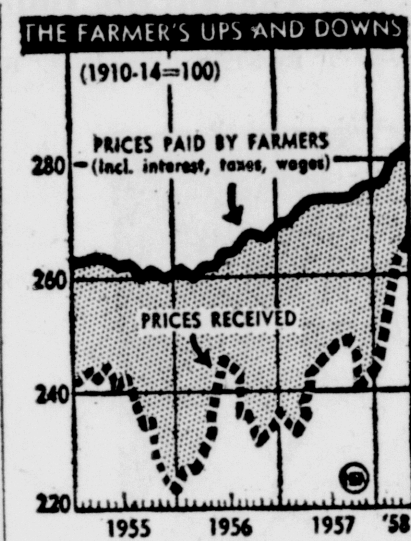

Clarence Shively of Jackson, Mich., called Friday on Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Conser and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Stoudt.

Mr. and Mrs. George Ford of Cocoa, Fla., visited Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Davis.

Mr. and Mrs. Lorin Immel and daughter Thelma Immel returned home Tuesday evening after visiting with their daughter and son-in-law. Mr. and Mrs. William Lacy of Pineville, Ky., also attended the Laurel Festival on their way home visited their son and wife. Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Immel of Dayton.

Mrs. Fred August is visiting with relatives at Titusville, Pa., this week.

Mrs. Nora Speidel returned home with her daughter Ruby Speidel to Lakewood for a few days visit.

NOW IT'S UP — Newschart above, based on U.S. Department of Commerce data, traces recent history of farm income vs. outgo. Record shows no consistent relationship between the two. In the good business year of 1955, farmers' income generally tended downward. Now, in first quarter of 1958, receipts have taken a sharp upward turn — a faster rate of increase than that of the prices he must pay. This is in contrast to declining income for the nation as a whole.

55 Attend Hanoverton Alumni Fete

HANOVERTON — The annual alumni banquet of Hanoverton High School was held Saturday evening at the Presbyterian Church with the ladies of the church serving.

Fifty-five members and guests were present. The original class of 1909 was represented.

Richard Speidel served as toastmaster.

Elsie Stackhouse presided for business session. Daniel Furey presented the slate of officers to serve for the 50-year banquet in 1959 which will be held in the Christian Church in Hanoverton.

Elected were Louis Furey, president; Fred and Lester Myers, 1st and 2nd vice president, respectively; and Miss Telma Humphrey, secretary and treasurer.

Miss Judy Wickersham was host to the New Garden Farmettes 4-H club this week. Nine members were in attendance.

Judging was discussed and health candidates were selected. Ellen Speidel demonstrated contents of a sewing basket.

A social hour was enjoyed prior to serving of lunch by Judy and her mother, Mrs. Gordon Wickersham.

BRUCE PELLEY presided for the short business session when the Past Matron and Past Patron club of Pleasant Valley Chapter, OES, met Monday.

June meeting hosts will be Mr. and Mrs. Clem Mason and Miss Helen Crist.

Westville

The Q O members were entertained to one o'clock dessert luncheon Wednesday at Mrs. Charles Berlin at Westville Lake. Awards in 500 went to Mrs. George Heston for high prize and the traveling prize, Mrs. Percy Stockberger low prize. Mrs. Opal Arm was a guest.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Stauffer of Ada returned home Wednesday after attending commencement at Goshen High School Tuesday evening for their nephew Ted Butler. They visited Mr. and Mrs. Grover Long and Mr. and Mrs. Earnest Dalton and sons Monday and Tuesday before returning home Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lorin Stanley received word of a grandson born to their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Moff, at Fort Knox, Ky., May 26. The mother is the former Barbara Stanley.

Mrs. Norman Henderson, Mrs. Roger Cameron and Mrs. Allen West accompanied Goshen first graders Monday to the wild animal farm at New Waterford and Berg's Pretzel factory at Leontonia.

Mr. and Mrs. Oral Miles of Alliance and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Honeywell of Salem RD 2 visited Mr. and Mrs. Lorin Stanley recently.

Mrs. Wilbur Ritchie and Mrs. Norman Henderson attended Columbiana High School commencement Wednesday for Jean Ritchie. Mile Branch 4-H Jolly Maidens were entertained Monday at home of Nancy Hoffer with 23 answering roll call. Diana Reeves demonstrated how to make a scarf, Janice Dearth gave a health lesson and a safety lesson was by Margaret Hunter.

Miss Julia Shank, Columbiana county home economics agent, was a guest.

Janet and Treva Courtney are to have demonstrations June 5 at 1:30 at the home of Mrs. Helen Stanley RD 2.

Tours at Wooster Set on Forestry Day

"Forestry Day" will be observed at the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station at Wooster June 13. The afternoon program will consist largely of tours of the Secret Arboretum at the experiment station, followed by an evening banquet at the Smithville Inn. On June 14, the Ohio Forestry Association will sponsor a tour in the Mohican State Forest at Loudonville.

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

That you could probably do without food 30 days more easily than you could go 100 hours without sleep. So why do modern people insist on shortening their lives by eating too much and sleeping too little?

That when you tell someone he's "all wet," you're more accurate than you think. Roughly two thirds of the total body weight is made up of water.

That the most unnecessary survey we've ever heard of was the one that came up with this shocking conclusion: women talk more than men! What we need now is a survey to find out whether two plus two still equals four.

That Groucho Marx says: "We owe a great deal to our government. The question is, how are we ever going to get the money to pay it?"

That if you've ever wondered about "snail's speed," the answer is: the snail's speed has been scientifically clocked at .000353005 m.p.h.

That the population of New York City in 1729 was only 8,000, or about a fourth of the number who now work in Rockefeller Center alone.

That hospitable Ireland has the greatest number of hospital beds, percentage-wise, of any country: one for every 67 persons.

That the male stiff collar is said to have been indirectly originated by the first Queen Bess of England. A homely dame, she hid her scrawny neck in a high stiffly starched ruff. Her courtiers, including Sir Walter Raleigh, gallantly followed suit, thus starting

Plans Formed for 4-H Dairy Judging Tour

Dan McGrew, extension dairy specialist of Ohio State University, will lead the discussion on the Columbiana - Mahoning 4-H Dairy Judging tour to be held June 12.

Three farms will be visited near the Columbiana - Mahoning County line beginning at Jim Herron's farm, RD Beloit at 10 a.m. To be visited in the afternoon are the Kurt Krahling and Mahlon Griffith herds. Two rings of dairy cattle will be judged at each stop.

All 4-H members interested in being on a dairy judging team are urged to attend. Don Myers, associate county agent, said.

COMPETITION?

Wait 'til you hear about Steel!

That stag line could go twice around the ballroom before it outnumbered the steel companies that are in constant competition with one another.

Actual count shows over 250 companies in manufacture and sale of iron, steel or iron and steel products. They're spread all across the country. They employ about 600,000 workers and have well over 900,000 stockholders.

Steel users are "sitting pretty" — lots of places to shop. Every steelmaker must be on his toes.

And, besides all the other competing steel companies, each steel plant is also in constant competition with the producers of other metals here and abroad — and with producers of cement, lumber, glass, paper and plastics.
